"129 YEARS of Continued Service to the District as Stock and Station Agents"

A smaller yarding of sheep and lambs were available to the buyers today. The yarding was drawn from the local and western areas of the Maranoa District as well as some New England and Border areas. The buying panel followed the downward trend for the markets, with the only bright spots any heavy export weight lambs with good finish. Lambs topped at $181 to average $116.12, with 2139 head of lambs and hoggets to choose from. The mutton supply dwindled to 443 head with the yarding showing signs of the prolonged drought. The lambs and hoggets that resisted the falling market were those that had the requisite finish to accompany the weights, which are then displayed when on the hook
